PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Spring has arrived and showing us the first signs of the very welcome warmer weather. Many Aust. native orchids are flowering now and putting on spectacular displays. I look forward to seeing our members' display of natives at our September meeting. Also attending will be our Guest Speaker, Mitch Kernaghan, who will be talking to us about Aust. natives and how to mount them.

Thank you all members who donated so generously, orchids, plants and money to our mini-auction in aid of the very worthy charity Ronald McDonald House. It was a fun night and as one member said, "It was friendly and everyone had a good time". Altogether $950 was raised on the night and during the following two weeks. Our Society added another $50 to roundup the amount to $1000. A cheque for this amount will be sent to RMCh in early September.

Thank you Ron and Phil for showing us how to deflask our new Sarc. Growing Comp. plants. All members attending received their free seedling to repot. There are still some left for members who were not present at the August meeting.

We have a new Editor with Teresa Bourke offering to take over from our temporary editor, Lynne Phelan. I am sure you will all agree that Lynne has done a great job. We warmly welcome Teresa to her new role.

Recently, I was saddened to hear that member Marie Martin's husband Steve, had passed away suddenly. Our thoughts and prayers are with her at this sad time.

Looking forward to seeing you at the next meeting. In the meantime 'keep social distancing and sanitising'.

Warm regards,

Louise

CONGRATULATIONS ON A GREAT RESULT FROM OUR MINI AUCTION FOR RONALD McDONALD HOUSE

A huge thank you to all the members (and visitors) who supported auction or made donations last month. A lovely lot of plants changed owners and a very creditable donation of $1,000 has been forwarded to RMH.

- If you think I have made an error in the recoding please let me know. (landb.phelan@gmail.com)
- In July I had the wrong/incomplete information for the Intermediate Cymbidium. The winner was John Clarke and I have amended the point score.
- My apologies to members for my rant re members not bringing in their Den. Purple Paddle Pop for the growing comp. It appears the only person not to have read the newsletter was the acting editor. 😞
- Having referred to the growing comp. plant as Den. Purple Paddle Pop, as Richard Korber point out, its full name is Den. Australian Obsession 'Purple Paddle Pop' x Starsheen 'Botanic Fireworks' so in future I will use its full name or Den. Australian Obsession for short.

Many thanks to Alan Stephenson for his photographs and to all the members who have provided material for the newsletter during my editorship.

It is with sadness that we advise members that fellow member, Marie Martin, has recently suffered the sudden and unexpected loss of her husband, Steve. The Society extends its sincere condolences to Marie.

BENCHING YOUR ORCHIDS AT A MEETING.

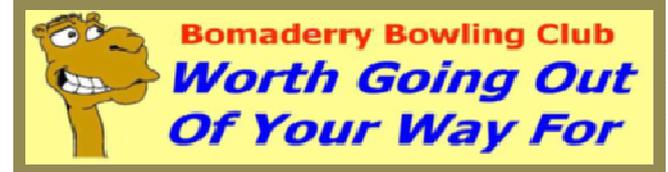

Now that the peak flowering season is with us the benching marshal asks all members to be mindful that all plants need to be benched by 7.00pm. Because we don't know what plants will be benched it is often necessary to shuffle the divisions around to make extra space for classes that have many exhibits. Only after these are settled can the popular vote cups be put in place. Late entries cause confusion and unnecessary stress for the members trying to ensure that each orchid is benched to its advantage for the popular vote.

If you bring your plants after 7.00pm they may not be able to be benched for judging though you are welcome to display them - probably on the stage area unless another suitable place can be found.

In addition to your newsletter there is a BENCHING PLAN AND POPULAR VOTE LAYOUT attached showing where to put plants and the circuit to follow so that social distancing can be maintained. This will be trialled at the September meeting and we will see whether any adjustments are needed.

The Society Thanks our Generous Sponsors

We encourage you to support them.

 Rewarding experience

Caring for your new seedling orchid.

Orchid seedlings in flasks have spent their lives with wet roots, warmth, low light and sufficient amounts of food. Taking them out of the flasks, potting them in bark, and then placing them in the greenhouse without providing for their needs, is an invitation to failure. To minimize the shock of transplanting these seedlings, you should attempt to duplicate as closely as possible, those conditions found inside the flasks.

They will require some humidity so regular misting can help, as will keeping them out of drafts and drying winds and out of direct sunlight. A clear plastic dome such as the top of a soft drink bottle can help initially but good ventilation is necessary after the initial shock from deflasking is over.

Until the little plants establish in their pots it is important that they are not subject to being jiggled about as the root tips are easily damaged.

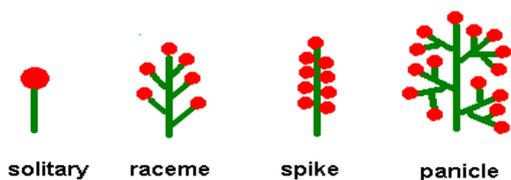

They do need feeding but very weak - perhaps ¼ strength balanced fertilizer interspersed with a weak dose of organic fertiliser such as Charlie Carp or a seaweed extract for the first month or so.

Sarcochilus have no pseudobulbs or canes to store moisture so they should not be allowed to dry out. The opposite applies too, as they do not like to have wet roots so an open mix that drains well is important.

Raceme? Spike? Inflorescence?

There is a fair bit of confusion about what to call the flowering stem of our orchids. Most people seem to use the term 'spike' but that term is only correct for some orchids. While trying not to be too pedantic I think we orchid growers can be a bit more precise without too much effort.

Inflorescence is the name given to the flowering part of an orchid. It is a generic term and can be used for all flowering stems but inflorescences come in many different forms, some of which are illustrated.

A spike refers to an unbranched inflorescence where the flowers are sessile, that is, they grow directly from the stem like this Spiranthes australia or Bulbophyllum sessile below.

I believe Don's dendrochilum on page 5 is an example of a spike.

A raceme is an unbranched inflorescence with flowers on pedicels (short stalks). Think of a cymbidium or a phalaenopsis. Look at the lovely raceme on John's Den. speciosum or Richard's phalaenopsis on page 5. Each flower is attached to the inflorescence with a short stalk. The majority of orchids including most dendrobiums, cattleyas, oncidiums, cymbidiums, phalaenopsis, etc. appear to have racemes so this would be how we would refer to most orchid flowers. e.g. John Harri-man's Cym. Sarah Jean 'Ice Cascade' has 5 pendulous racemes.

Some racemes are branched and the botanical term for this is a panicle. The inflorescence on Onc. Sharry Baby is a panicle but may still be referred to as a raceme.

Orchids which have an inflorescence with single flower such as a masdevallia or some paphiopedilums are, by botanical definition, neither a spike nor a raceme so perhaps the best way to refer to them is to use the generic term, inflorescence though I think we often just use the words 'stem' or 'flower' when we refer to these orchids. e.g. Don's lovely masdevallia on page 5 has a strong stem and a huge flower.

So, if very few orchids have actual spikes; I say, let racemes rule.

Sandra also pointed out the location of the Evacuation Plan for BCC, the 2 exits to be used in case of fire, location of the fire extinguishers and that the Evacuation Meeting Point was in the carpark.

New member Pauline de Launey was given her welcome pack.

John Clancy has kindly accepted the role of Novice Corner Coordinator. John took Novice Corner tonight and talked about Dockrillias. John handed out some information sheets and answered many questions which Novices found helpful. Any suggestions for NC should be directed to John.

Thank you to everyone who arrived early to help set up Louise spoke about the passing of our member, Michelle Hahn. Michelle and Ross joined the Society in 2012. Michelle participated in many Society activities and was always willing to help. Michelle will be remembered as a happy person who always had time for a chat. Both Michelle and Ross received the Meritorious Service Badge in 2018. A service was held at the Shoalhaven Memorial Chapel and a floral display was sent on behalf of members. A card was sent to Ross with our sincere condolences. Members were then asked to stand for a minute's silence in memory of Michelle.

Our Spring Show has been cancelled due to Covid restrictions on numbers at Bomaderry Bowling Club. As this show generally coincides with Fathers' Day, we wish all dads, uncles, etc. a wonderful day. We await to hear about our October Show.

Due to Covid concerns the Committee has decided to withdraw our participation in the Southern Orchid Spectacular to be held in October.

Again, due to Covid the Committee has decided to temporarily cancel the Library until the situation is under control. Spring is almost upon us and a great time to be repotting. Please check the sales table for any items that you require. We recently purchased a box of Bug Killer which will be sold for $15 each, there are only 12 available.

The Committee has been reviewing the Constitution addressing grammar issues (shall to will etc.) and discussing some minor changes to some of the clauses. Once a final draft has been completed the changes will be brought to members for approval.

Ron and Phil were well organised for the deflasking demonstration with two tables set up for social distancing. They explained each step from removing the seedlings from the jar to rinsing off the agar with warm water and carefully separating the seedlings so as to not damage the roots. A few members had questions which were all answered. Starting with the Novices each member took a turn to pot up and label their plant, which will form part of our Growing Competition. Very informative demonstration and enjoyed by members. Louise presented Ron and Phil with a token of appreciation. Thank you, Lynne, for printing off the plant name labels.

We then broke for supper. Thank you, Suzanne and Helen, for serving supper. Thank you to all members who brought something along for us to enjoy and also for observing social distancing.

Our Fund-Raising Mini Auction in aid of the very worthy charity Ronald McDonald House commenced. Louise first spoke again briefly about why we decided to do this fundraiser.

Richard Korber although slightly handicapped after shoulder surgery, was Auctioneer for the evening with his trusted assistants Brian and Don. Ron and Françoise were the runners and Diane the money collector. Bidding was tense but many members walked away with a bargain and new plants to add to their collections. A good laugh and fun had by all. A huge thank you to all who donated plants and to Ken and Leonie Coates who donated 30 plants for this cause, also to everyone, members and visitors who bid and donated money. Thank you to all the helpers. We can proudly say that to date we have raised $930 that will cover the cost for approx. 6 nights for a family staying in Ronald McDonald House. Congratulations!

Louise reminded everyone that John Harriman has some potting bark available from Bob Bishop.

Benching Results: As published in the Monthly Benching Results in this Newsletter.

There is only one disabled parking space at the front of the hall but several of our members have compromised mobility. Your cooperation will be much appreciated.

ORCHIDS IN SPRING

Spring cleaning isn't just for carpets and cupboards. Orchid collections benefit from regular clean ups as well. Most of us will have had our orchids crowded into winter quarters for the last few months so it is timely to do a thorough check of each plant and make sure they are in optimal health for the growing season and that the growing area is clean and free from pests and weeds....
You can read the rest of this article on our website.

PROGRESS REPORT Committee has been revision the society's Constitution. The revisions are almost complete. When finalised the draft new constitution will be circulated to members and, after the changes are explained, members will be asked to vote to accept the new constitution. This will take place at either the November or December meeting.
